SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18.—Assailing reactionary and do-nothing elements as un-American, President Roosevelt pictured the nation as in an era of change for the better here today.

The executive came into the Southland for a two weeks vacation at Warm Springs, Ga., and stopped here to deliver an address before a stadium packed with thousands commemorating the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the colony of Georgia.

Mr. Roosevelt got a rousing welcome in this old Southern city, and rode with the governor of the state and the Savannah mayor through three miles of streets deeply lined with cheering spectators every foot of the way. At the stadium the national guards greeted him with a twenty one gun salute, and a band played "America," while thousands waved tiny American flags.

Times Change For Better
The president covered a wide range of economic subjects in his address. He began with a general compliment for the American people's "sense of proportion." This, he said, allowed them to at once laugh at the idea of providing all money on a per capita basis every Saturday night and condemn those who lamented because they didn't have francs and pounds instead of good American dollars.

Times have changed for the better.

PA NEW OBSERVES

For the first time in years "red flannels" are on display in a local down town store.

Pedestrians, who came over the Croton hill this morning, were picking their way along gingerly. While the city asked the street for the motorists, the sidewalk was left untouched and was in a very slippery condition. Some of the pedestrians took to the opposite side of the road and walked in the carway.

The season of chimney and furnace fires is at hand. Practically every alarm answered by firemen this week was for one of these two causes. People should look over their furnaces and make sure that the smoke pipe leading into the chimney is not rusted through. This often happens during the summer, and when the chimney burns out, it eats its way through the corroded pipe on the under side.

Dear Pa New:

The deep snow of a few days ago was very hard on bird life. I noticed when in the woods quite a number of bodies of dead birds, frozen from the lack of food. It takes a great quantity of food to keep life in the bodies of small birds, and in twenty four hours of deep snow and extreme cold will cost the lives of many birds. And it is at this time that we are most able to repay the birds for their cheerful songs of summer by scattering crumbs and seeds in your yard, this takes but a minute and the trouble is a small price to pay for the pleasures that the birds furnish us during early spring and summer. May I suggest you cut in small pieces some raisins and scatter for the birds. This makes a successful food to hold song birds through the winter.

OWEN PENFIELD FOX

After a week of real winter weather and snow, the conditions moderated today, and at noon it looked like good football weather for the game with Toledo Scott high this afternoon. The sun was out for a time and temperature was above the forty mark.

U.S. Recognition Hailed By Soviet

MOSCOW, Nov. 18.—Russia today hailed America recognition as a triumph achievement for the Soviet regime and as a substantial contribution to the cause of world peace.

While official comment still was awaited, Russians of all walks of life, peasant, workers, engineers, and government officials expressed great enthusiasm over the formal recognition of communist Russia by the world's greatest capitalist nation.

Japan was frequently mentioned in every discussion of the event, the general impression being that Russia has far less to fear in the Far East now that the United States "is on her side."

Soviet To Name Envoy
While the selection of William C. Bullitt was the first United States ambassador to Moscow was looked upon as a particularly happy choice, diplomatic circles eagerly awaited announcement of the appointment of the Soviet Envoy to Washington. Either Gregory Sokolnikoff, far eastern chief of the foreign affairs department, or Valerian I. Mezhlauk, member of the state planning commission and a man well known in the United States, was expected to be sent to Washington.

Governor Pinchot Will Introduce Rest Of Program

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—Elated and, perhaps, somewhat surprised by the favorable reception accorded his liquor proposals by a heretofore none too friendly general assembly, Gov. C. Pinchot today put finishing touches to the remainder of his program for introduction next week.

Although some of the six bills carrying out his plans for handling the liquor business are destined to taste the fires of battle before the goal looms in sight, the governor is satisfied legislators are making "real progress" at the extraordinary session.

Set Record.
Even veterans about Capitol Hill offer a word of praise for the lawmakers who, despite a flare of unexpected trouble, set some sort of record for the first week of a legislative session. Three bills, half of the administration's liquor program, swept through the house into the senate. In three days, the upper

The exercises will be held at the same hour and near the spot where Lincoln stood. Prior to the address, a parade will be held from Center Square to the National Shrine, starting from the same place and marching over the same route as the memorable parade of 70 years ago.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, has virtually completed his nationwide organization through which the civilian works program will be conducted.

With few exceptions the state and local activities will be under the same organizations which have handled relief activities for Hopkins all along. Most of these were in Washington for instructions, and over the week-end will be busy putting their plans in effect.

All persons on work relief, for instance, must be transferred quickly to the C. W. A. Approximately 2,000,000 dependent persons must be employed in civil works projects by December 1 and the entire 4,000,000 must be cared for by December 15.

Meanwhile, Hopkins said, direct relief to groups for which this plan does not offer a remedy will continue. There is no intention of closing relief offices anywhere.

(International News Service)

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 18.—"There must be no slipup in the case against the confessed murderers and kidnapers of Brook Hart."

With this declaration, District Attorney Fred Thomas of Santa Clara county issued orders today to police to obtain statements from every person with tangible knowledge of the brutal slaying.

"We have the signed confessions of Jack Holmes and Thomas Thurmond that they bound their victim with baling wire and shot several times at him after throwing him from the San Mateo bridge into Lower San Francisco Bay," District Attorney Thomas said.

No Slipup
"But we must have corroborating testimony. We must have an airtight case. There must be no slipup."

Then with deliberate conviction in his voice, Thomas pounded his fist on his desk and declared:

"These men deserve hanging and that's what they'll get."

While the wheels of legal justice were grinding toward swift justice and a speedy trial, the grim search of Lower San Francisco Bay continued for the body of Hart.

Son Of American Aristocracy, First Soviet Ambassador

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A son of American aristocracy will be this country's first ambassador to Soviet Russia.

Energetic, youthful-looking William Christian Bullitt is the scion of a wealthy Philadelphia family. However the abyss between the conservatism of his ancestral lineage and the radicalism of the Soviet regime is bridged by a sincere belief on the part of Bullitt in the stability of the Soviet Union.

In fact, American recognition of the Soviet government is a move for which Bullitt has worked indefatigably for 14 years, ever since he was sent to Moscow by the late President Woodrow Wilson in 1919 to ascertain what kind of government the Soviets had established.

Following a conference with Lenin, Bullitt returned to the Ver-

Hearing Continued For Frank Rausch

Claim No Notice Of It Was Received At Office Of The District Attorney

Hearing on an application of Frank Rausch, for release from the county jail on a writ of habeas corpus was continued until Monday by Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning, owing to the absence of District Attorney John Powers. Frank Rausch is a son of Walter Rausch, one of the principals in a series of recent robberies. Frank was being held for receiving stolen goods, but denied the charge.

The writ of habeas corpus was asked on the grounds that he had been denied counsel at the preliminary hearing. Hearing was set for 9 o'clock and when District Attorney Powers' office was called he was out. Assistant County Detective Bernard Rocks came to the court house and stated that no notice of the hearing had been received at the district attorney's office.

After checking over the papers, it was found that no notice was provided for and none was given. There was some question as to whose duty it was to give the notice, and the easiest way out seemed to be to continue the case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A virtual pact of political non-aggression in return for complete capitulation by the Soviets on practically everything desired by the United States was the bargain on which President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissar, based their agreement for resumption of normal relations between the two nations.

This was learned today as the United States and the Soviet union enjoyed the first day of official relations since establishment of the Soviet regime 16 years ago.

Although the series of understandings on which resumption of normal relations was based did not mention

SEE POSSIBLE BENEFITS FROM RECOGNITION

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Principal benefits to be derived from the restoration of normal relations between the United States and Soviet Russia are expected to be:

The United States: The sale of millions of dollars worth of agricultural machinery, automobiles and motor accessories, cotton, rubbers, metals, chemicals and electrical supplies if satisfactory credits can be arranged.

Soviet Russia: Tremendous enhancement of Soviet prestige and a strengthening of the Russian position in the Far East, where trouble has threatened to develop with Japan.

a non-aggression pact, one of these understandings contained the same wording incorporated in the basis of the political non-aggression pacts which the Soviets have with several European nations.

Furthermore, it was learned Litvinoff requested this particular understanding in return for the concessions granted by military organizations or groups having the aim of armed struggle against the United States, its territories or possessions, and to prevent any recruiting on behalf of such organizations and groups.

It is included in Litvinoff's letter to President Roosevelt concerning the willingness of the Soviets to abstain from propaganda. It states the Soviet government agrees "not to form, subsidize, support or permit military organizations on its territory, or to support or permit military activities within their own territories aimed at armed struggle with one another."

FIND CHARRED BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN

ANOTHER TORCH MURDER REVEALED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 18.—The charred body of a young woman found near Willow Grove on a pyre of underbrush by hunters was identified today as that of Miss Tanka Hetman, about 25, of Philadelphia, a domestic.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Police today sought to identify the charred remains of a young woman who had been beaten, strangled and then burned to death on a gasoline soaked pyre of underbrush near Dresher town, three miles west of Willow Grove, in Montgomery county.

A piece of sash-cord and a man's polka-dot necktie, tied in an intricate sailor's knot, still hung to the victim's neck. An autopsy disclosed skull and jaw fractures. The body, found lying face downwards by two hunters, was badly charred, except for the legs.

Police from Philadelphia and Camden who joined Montgomery county detectives in the probe, sought to identify the girl as Esther Marshall, or Florence Miller, the two cabaret entertainers who disappeared two weeks ago after their boy friends, Edward Wallace and John Sukorsky, were "out on the spot" in Camden. Wallace was killed, but Sukorsky survived.

reciprocally to the engagements above expressed."

State department experts admitted that under international law, the wording of this understanding concerning military organizations could be interpreted as applying to the armies of the respective nations. Asked by International News Service whether he considered the essence of a political non-aggression pact was contained in this understanding, Litvinoff evaded a direct answer by replying:

"There is no danger of aggression between the two nations but sometimes pacts of non-aggression mean not what is written but the effect they have generally."

Rights of Americans.

In return for the virtual pact of non-aggression, Litvinoff made unprecedented pledges of propaganda, gave sweeping assurances concerning the religious freedom and legal rights of Americans who may work in Russia, abandoned completely all claims for damages allegedly caused by the American military expedition into Siberia in 1918-21, and renounced claim to approximately $15,000,000 belonging to former Russian governments and now on deposit in the United States.

The delicate question of the $187,000,000 debt which the United States government loaned the Kerensky regime was left over for future settlement. The Soviets desire to arrange a settlement of the debt without formal recognition since the latter declaration would make them liable to old debt claims of other nations. It, therefore, was decided to postpone the matter for further discussion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Five letters from President Roosevelt and seven communications from Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissar, contained the understandings on which was based the agreement for resumption of normal relations between the United States and Soviet Russia.

This exchange of letters included understandings on propaganda, non-aggression, religious freedom and protection of the rights of Americans in Russia, as well as certain damage claims.

The act which ended the 16-year break in diplomatic relations between the two nations took place in the oval room of the White House at five minutes before midnight Wednesday when President Roosevelt handed Litvinoff a letter informing him that "as a result of our conversations the government of the United States has decided to establish normal diplomatic relations with the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

In reply, Litvinoff handed the president a letter stating that the Soviet government was "glad to establish these normal relations. Both men shook hands and history was made.

To Consider Debts
Washington, Nov. 18.—With normal diplomatic relations finally established, the United States and the Soviet Union will seek next week to reach a settlement of the delicate question of the debt and damage claims.

Discussions will be resumed at the State Department Monday between the American experts and Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar. They will center principally around the $187,000,000 which this government loaned the Kerensky regime before the latter was overthrown by the Soviet.

The total American debt and damage claims against Russia are estimated to be about $800,000,000. Half of this represents claims for confiscated property and also the accrued interest on the Kerensky debt, which brings that obligation over $900,000,000.

William C. Bullitt, who has been selected as America's first ambassador to Soviet Russia, will take charge of the discussions at the State Department. Henry Morgenthau Jr., new acting secretary of the treasury, also will participate in them from time to time.

chamber put its approval on one bill designed to aid national recovery. Spurred by this display of speedy action, the governor proposed to fulfill his pledge for a short, inexpensive session. Bills covering most of the subjects in his call will be put before the legislators next week despite possibilities of a fight Monday night on the all important liquor control measure now on second reading in the house.

Many Measures In
Many measures for social legislation, as urged by the chief executive in his address, already have been introduced. Whether these will be duplicated by the administration is not yet known but, regardless, he is likely to exert pressure, at least, for their consideration.

He has documents ready for old age pensions, unemployment insurance, ratification of the national child labor amendment to the United States constitution, maximum hours and minimum wages to doom "sweatshops". Other subjects upon which bills are likely to come from the executive chamber are milk, utilities, banking, highway, permanent registration and an income tax for schools.

Inasmuch as three bills setting up machinery for payment of a soldier's bonus have been sponsored by Rep. Frederick H. Myers, Philadelphia, the administration will have no measures on this item. The Myers bills have the support of the American Legion and Governor Pinchot has indicated their provisions are satisfactory to him. Because the bills are drafted in a manner not to cause any financial drain on the general fund, the general opinion is they will emerge early from committee. Provision for paying interest on bonds sold during the remainder of the biennium is made by setting aside a portion of the money collected on the sale of the bonds for this purpose.

sallies peace conference with the conviction that the Soviets were in power to stay. He urged President Wilson and the allied statesmen to recognize the communist regime but both scoffed at his belief that the Soviets were stable and his memorandum on recognition aroused a storm of protest. As a result, he resigned as attaché to the American peace commission, broke with President Wilson, and retired to private life as an author and motion picture executive.

In the fall of 1919, shortly before the stroke which precipitated the fatal illness of President Wilson, he was the central figure in a tempestuous senate inquiry, at which he charged Robert Lansing, then secretary of State, with being opposed to the Versailles treaty and hopeful the Senate would not ratify it.

He came prominently into the lime light again late last year, when he visited the leading statesman of Europe on a mysterious mission of his own which nearly became the subject of a senatorial investigation.

Russia Pleased
"Naturally we are extremely pleased," the official foreign office spokesman said. "Now both countries can cooperate to their mutual good economically and in the interests of disarmament and international peace."

Perhaps the most joyous group in all Moscow was the colony of American business men who have been struggling for years to obtain fruitful Soviet contracts. Now they appear prepared to do a rushing business.

To the American citizen in Russia recognition means the protection of their interest through official representation in the Soviet union. He is particularly aided by the terms reached in the Roosevelt-Litvinoff parleys.

The average Russian vaguely believes he will receive immediate material aid from American recognition in the way of more food and more clothing. He doesn't know exactly how, but feels he has much to gain from the move.

PRESIDENT SEES CHANGE FOR BETTER IN UNITED STATES

ter, within the past year, the executive asserted. There is much yet to be done, and it all cannot be done in a day or a year, he added, but the American people are on the way to complete recovery.

The new relations between this country and Russia, Mr. Roosevelt predicted, would prove a real impetus for world peace. Fresh from negotiations with commissar Maxim Litvinoff, the president dwelt on the Russian question.

Against Reactionaries
For the reactionary elements holding to a do nothing policy, he had this to say:

"It has been remarked of late by certain modern writers that those who are today in charge of your national government are guilty of great experimentation. If I read my history right, the same suggestion was used when Englishmen, protesting in vain against intolerable conditions at home, founded new colonies in the American wilderness, and when Washingtons and Adams and Bullocks conducted another great experiment in 1776."

The president said he saw definite signs of recovery here in the South. He declared:

"I am happy in the thought that it has been a change for the better: that I came back to see smiles replacing gloom, to see hope replacing despair, to see faith restored to its rightful place."

The president left immediately after his speech to board a train for Warm Springs where he is going for Thanksgiving holidays.

The figures presented were the same as has already been published in The News. Some action on the matter will probably be taken by the league.

PAN-AMERICAN POLICY

THE response in South America to Secretary Hull's decision to be present at the Pan-American conference in Montevideo next month is of a kind to encourage the hope that the nations of this hemisphere are beginning to wake up to the importance of co-operation along economic and political lines.

A healthy interest is being shown in his projected visit. Before his plans were announced, a movement was under way having as its aim postponement of the conference because of political conditions generally and the Chaco war particularly. This now has been abandoned and preparations are being made for the assembling of the conference, the seventh of its kind, December 3. The general disposition of the nations to the south is to look upon it as promising important accomplishments, due largely to Mr. Hull's participation.

Reflection of this attitude is found in the fact that several of the participating governments are revising their delegations so as to include in them their most able men. Revision of the conference agenda because of Washington's serious interest in the meeting also is being considered.

Intramercian policy long has been a subject of much discussion among the nations of this hemisphere. It has held the stage at pan-American conferences and in other forums, but little headway toward agreement upon such a policy has been made. The reasons for this are many.

The present seems a propitious time for the subject to be revived and for a serious attempt to be made to find a mutually satisfactory plan of political and economic co-operation.

WANTS TO KNOW WHY

Cleveland, where gangsterism has flourished on a large scale for years, seems headed toward a cleanup as result of having a grand jury foreman who believes in getting at the root of crime problems.

The foreman is William Feather, who is described as being a writer of business philosophy. But on the side it appears that he has been making a little study of crime conditions in Cleveland. He has recalled that the Cleveland police chief two years ago, when gangsterism was at its height in many cities, compiled a list of 65 underworld characters whom he branded as public enemies. They were men with known criminal records.

The grand jury of which Mr. Feather is foreman has been called to make an investigation of crime. A little inquiry pursued by the foreman disclosed that none of the public enemies had been sent to prison. A few of them have been killed since the list containing their names was made public by the police chief. The others apparently have remained in Cleveland and continued to pursue their activities.

Why have they not been prosecuted or driven from the city, the foreman asked. No satisfactory answer being forthcoming from responsible quarters, he has had police officials summoned before his investigating body, and will try to get the answer from them.

Little is to be gained if "public enemies" are to go un molested and be permitted to continue their lawless activities. It is only when such branding is followed by arrest and prosecution that good is accomplished. Where this is not done law-abiding citizens have the right to demand the reason in order that responsibility may be fixed.

"TURTLE DRIVING" AND "OSTRICH WALKING"

Calling attention to the fact that "turtle driving" and "ostrich walking" cause many deaths and innumerable less serious accidents in cold weather, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, A. A. A., today issued warning to automobile operators and pedestrians to beware of these practices.

"Turtle driving" is defined by the P. M. F. as operating a car with windows tightly closed or curtains closely fitted, and failing to signal intention to start, stop, turn or back; "Ostrich walking" is blindly crossing streets or highways with head tucked in a coat collar, or view obstructed by an umbrella held low over the face.

"Cold weather brings increased traffic hazards which drivers and pedestrians should guard against by taking common-sense precautions," the federation statement continued. "Motor vehicle operators always should give signals that can be recognized by drivers of other vehicles. When driving through cities or towns, or in traffic on the highways the window at the operator's seat should be open sufficiently, even in coldest weather, to permit the giving of arm signals when necessary. In cars fitted with curtains provisions should be such that the driver can signal his intentions. Signals should be given from the left side of the car for at least fifty feet before turning or stopping."

A NEW GOVERNMENT FOR ITALY

Mussolini's dissolution of the Italian Parliament; preparatory after the holidays, to setting up a modified government in which the premier will assume all executive powers and revolutionize the legislative branch, recalls the scheme of parliamentary representation advanced some years ago by the English Fabian labor leader, Sidney Webb. The Webb plan proposed to give parliamentary representation to labor, industrial, agricultural and other interests, in addition to representation based, as it present, on population.

The reform now reported to be contemplated by Mussolini would abolish the Chamber of Deputies in the Italian Parliament, substituting therefor a legislative body constituted of representatives of various groups and giving large responsibility for legislation to capital and labor in control of production. The Italian Senate would remain in its present form as a political body.

From dispatches from Rome the proposed new popular legislative branch will comprise delegates elected from commerce, agriculture and industry, classified in 50 industrial categories to be termed "guilds." It will choose from its membership delegates to a central administrative body having supreme control of production, organization of all industrial, agricultural and commercial activities and regulation of trade.

There are analogies between the new Mussolini plan and the American NRA, and it appears to combine the principles underlying the NRA and those of the Sidney Webb reform. The latter proposed to create a similar division not only of Parliament but of the British ministry into political and economic categories, having independent functions, as seems to be the Mussolini plan. It is another experiment in government which if put into effect early in 1934 will be watched with interest by the rest of the Western World.—Topeka Daily Capital.

In the school of experience the "passing mark" is the red mark left by a blister.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

RED FINGERNAILS
IT'S TOO MUCH for me. I can't figure it out. I've thought about it, at intervals, for days, but the answer eludes me. . . I think at times that I've got it firmly by the tail, but it always slips out of my grasp and gets away.

What is it that I can't figure out? Well—and I'm just a bit ashamed of my stupidity—I can't understand these bright red fingernails that I see everywhere. I might be able to understand pink ones, but I can't get the idea of the RED ones through my poor head.

Here I am, standing, talking, listening to an intelligent and charming woman. She isn't chattering idly. She's talking seriously, saying something that's worth hearing. But do I listen to every word she's saying? No, I don't. I stand there like a simple male wondering about her lovely red fingernails. I see them fluttering before my eyes like pretty little birds. . . and I wonder why they are red instead of green or blue, and how long the color lasts, and how much time she must spend on them and does she change their color to harmonize or contrast with the dress she's wearing and just how important those startling fingernails are to her.

I don't feel "superior." How can any man, aware of all the silly things that all men do, think he's superior to any intelligent woman? But I do feel bewildered. . . The problem will not keep me awake tonight. I'll not lose my appetite over it. But I'd really like to know. . . One thing I'm sure of. Those women with the bright red fingernails don't paint them for men, but, on the other hand, do they paint them for women or do they do it just because it's the thing to do and they might as well be dead as out of step with fad and style?

I wish some woman would tell me SHE does it, and I wish she'd hurry and do it before they go out of fashion—because after that happens I'll not be interested.

HOSPITALITY
When you are entertaining guests for a long or short period, do you stop to consider what would be most enjoyed by your guests individually or do you plan what you have always wanted to do yourself?

Perhaps you plan what is easiest for you and say to yourself, "As I am doing this entertaining let them take what they get and be thankful."

If you want your guests happy that is not the right way to feel. To be a guest signifies that generous hospitality is extended to you.

To entertain a guest is to show deference to the one under your roof, by chance or invited, for a short period.

It would be more kindly not to pretend to entertain if you are not willing to consult the taste and wishes of the ones who are to accept your hospitality.

Every once in a while a host or a hostess is encountered who seems to begrudge any extra work done in behalf of guests.

Some hostesses make it badly apparent just when the guests are expected to depart.

To be a guest should be obviated by setting an arriving and a going away time.

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

THE HUMBLE ROADS
So many things the eye can meet Upon the little casual street. The humble houses look as though The best and worst of life they meet. But seen contented night and day That round about them children play.

A fluttering crepe upon the door Betokens one who'll smile no more And plainly tells the passerby The old, old truth that all must die. And ever when such signs I see I think of those long lost to me.

The window boxes bare today Were once with red geraniums gay. A touch of beauty to express The tenant's dream of loveliness And many a gleaming beacon light Welcomes the husband home at night.

Upon the little streets I see All that has happened unto me. A woman with a troubled face Welcomes a doctor, with his rake. While just next door, with case and spade A tuppit bed is being made.

All joys and cares of good and ill These little street street houses fill. Mansion and palace can't escape That solemn bit of fluttering crepe. That solemn bit of fluttering crepe. Great house or humble, life appears The self-same blend of smiles and tears.

Dear Fred:—It has been said "An old foundation is worthy of all respect but it must not take from us the right to build afresh whatever we will."

Hence, find herein cited a few of my views of conditions as they will exist in the next century or so. Understand sir, this is not a manifestation of clairvoyance, but is a logical effort for the "general diffusion of knowledge" in behalf of a suffering humanity. My prophecy follows:

The man of the future will be bigger and dumber.

Lois-cloths will suffice as female beach attire and will be worn with difference and impunity by the fair but dominant sex. For informal afternoon wear ladies will don pants (i. e. trousers).

The W. C. T. U. will extend its membership to men and will limit its activities to determining the aluminous content of pasteurized milk.

Love, Republicans and profanity will be obsolete. Red-heads, bald-pates, burlesques, Scotch jokes, wrestling and caviar will be passe' while astrology and spiritualism will aspire to new heights. Seances will replace the regular Sunday-night bridge.

Blondes will outnumber brunettes by 3-1 (with four of the 13 precincts not reported).

People will eat less, drink more, and live longer. There will be less rich and fewer poor. The prevalent diseases will be the kidneys and liver chiefly of which will be phosphatic diathesis, cystitis, cirrhosis, Uremia and hepatitis. Catarrh will be all the rage too.

The most popular orchestra ensembles will consist of the drums, a trombone, bass viol, tuba and piano. The favorite dance will be a sort of hip-wiggling, trunk-servanting "fox cant-or-lops" (pun-an elaboration of the famous tango).

Uncle Sam will engage in no warfare either foreign or domestic.

The Republicans will merge with the Socialists, contaminating the latter which will culminate in the downfall of both. Hoover will not be a forgotten man. Preachers and novelists will be as poor as the Democrats have been for the last decade. The Democrats will cater only to the "engineers" of education (i. e. college profs.).

Defeat Of Tammany Is Outstanding Feature Of Political Struggles And Country Asks If Reform Is Likely To Be Permanent

Another phase of the desire for economy in public expenditures is pointed out in public comments on the recent local elections. Destruction of political machines in various cities, including New York and Philadelphia, is interpreted as public impatience at the reckless expenditure of money under such political organizations as controlled these communities. One query is offered: Will there be permanent reform?

"These righteous results were achieved by a significant outpouring of incensed voters, who were too much in earnest to give heed to party cries," declares the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, observing that "the heavy independent votes cast and the deep interest manifested are highly gratifying" and that "the people are awake." The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD exclaims that "it is the twilight of the bosses in these United States," further suggesting that "the people are reading and listening, but doing their own thinking and their own voting." The PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM feels that "Tammany has been put down," and records that it was "a ceremony performed with much of the interest and awestricken wide-eyedness of the attention given a human fly negotiating the dome of a courthouse."

"What of Tammany now?" asks the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, voicing the general speculation as to the future. "Al Smith is going to be read out of the order for remaining neutral in this scrap. Will he form the nucleus for a new Tammany, which leaves Curry with the name and headquarters only? Will Curry get the boot from within? Or is Tammany going to hang on to what it has, with the knowledge of the past and hopes for the future? It all depends—depends on what Fusion gives New York and what the Fahey-Flynn wing and the Smith loyal legion do."

"To Judge Samuel Seabury, who conducted an inquiry into city affairs, the people of New York City owe a considerable debt of gratitude," declares the DES MOINES REGISTER, a view which is endorsed by the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL and the ABILENE REPORTER. The SANTA MONICA EVENING OUTLOOK adds that "New York was ripe for a revolt against Tammany and La Guardia became its leader," while "his radical tendencies won him support from certain classes and assisted in his success." The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, observing that "New York is normally a strong Democratic community" and that "a tremendous non-partisan uprising is necessary to dislodge its Tammany rulers," concludes that "the voters of the city want no blunder and plunder government."

The BALTIMORE SUN advises: "If New York must take a canyon on La Guardia, the major is also taking some risk on his own account. If he can clean up the mess and avoid being hamstrung by the permanent officials who run so many promising reformers, he will be a great mayor. Even if he cannot do all this, he will probably provide a refreshing interlude between Tammany administrations."

"Machine politicians of the municipal stripe, whatever their party affiliations," says the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, "had a hard day of it. The revolt was general and widespread, and the reason is not hard to find. These political machines, dependent on patronage, were not interested in economy. They had reduced to useless positions, to reduce exorbitant salaries."

We have often wondered why that pest the telephone salesman is allowed to exist. Of all the pests these birds are the worst. It does no matter to them what the people are doing whom they annoy by trying to sell them something. We never buy anything over the telephone no matter how impudent the agent may be or whom he says he represents.

Epworth Church Special Sermon

Dr. J. A. Galbraith Will Continue Subject Began Last Sunday Evening

The subject for the sermon at the Epworth church Sunday evening will be "Is the World Getting Better?" The pastor, Dr. J. A. Galbraith, used the same subject on last Sunday evening and considerable interest was manifested in it on the part of the congregation. The sermon this Sunday evening will not be the same one preached last Sunday, but a further discussion of the same subject. This subject is one that has caused much debate in recent years, for there are those who honestly believe that the world is getting better and then there are others who are just as sincere in believing that the world is not getting better, especially religiously. What are the actual conditions as compared with the years gone by and what can we hope for in the future? All these vital and essential things of life will be discussed.

Armament Expose Address Subject

An exposure of the Armament racket and its menace to world peace will be made by the Rev. Philip C. Pearson in his sermon at 7:30 p. m. in Trinity church Sunday. New and additional information from European sources has come to him during the last week which will be made available through his sermon to a wider public, in order that sentiment against the bloodshed of war may be created. It will be shown that while Chancellor Hitler is frank and outspoken and has talked both peace and war, he is organizing and training the whole German nation in military technique, in other nations there is an equally dangerous, but more subtle method being used to plunge the nations into another war.

First missionary work dates back to 1898, ten years before the general assembly at Pilot Point, Texas, at which the merger of the Holiness Church of Christ, the Pentecostal churches of America with the Nazarene church was ratified. He will illustrate the lecture with pictures taken by Louis R. Patmont, who spent twenty two years in Russia. He himself is the son of a missionary in Russia.

This is the same lecture that was heard last Monday in the ministerial association and created great interest and a rather heated controversy. It is peculiarly timely now, inasmuch as our government is considering the recognition of Russia.

Federation To Hear Pure Food Laws Explained

W. H. Heath, Government Expert, Will Speak On Proposed Protective Law

Appearing under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs, W. H. Heath, Acting Chief of the Buffalo station of the Food and Drug Administration, will speak Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the Highland U. P. church. Mr. Heath's subject will be the proposed law of Senator Royal S. Copeland, which will be brought up in the next session of Congress, regulating advertising and labelling of food and drugs.

Under the present law, foods and drugs may be advertised over the radio and in printed advertisements in a misleading manner, although the law describing contents of any container is very strict and cannot be violated. Dr. Copeland's law proposes to bring the advertising of such products under the one law.

Mr. Heath is one of a number of speakers which the government is sending out to explain this new proposed law, and the Federation of Women's Clubs feels fortunate in securing his presence. He will stop off in New Castle, enroute to Greensburg for an address the same evening.

After a brief but thorough explanation of the proposed Act of Congress, Mr. Heath will give his audience an opportunity to ask questions.

At 3 o'clock, Robert C. Love, vice president of the First National Bank of Lawrence County will speak on the subject of "Our Trade with South America," a topic in which he is well versed having spent a number of years in South American business centers.

Invitations have been extended to members of the local service clubs, Chamber of Commerce, and city and county officials to hear these speakers.

Pinchot Passes Physical Tests As Plane Pilot

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Despite his 68 years, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today had successfully passed the rigorous physical tests for a government student pilot's license.

Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, the governor's wife, passed the examination, also, except for the vision test for the left eye. She was assured by the examiners the defect could be easily corrected and that she would pass upon taking the examination again.

Major John V. Dalling, commander of the Aviation Corps of the Pennsylvania National Guard, supervised the tests which were given at the National Guard Armory in West Philadelphia. The governor was so enthused when informed that he had passed, that he dropped all gubernatorial decorum and danced a jig.

In one of the tests, the executive was placed in the barony chair, whirled ten times to the right, and then ten times to the left. It was a test for equilibrium. Without an instant's rest, he was asked to read a chart across the room, and did.

Fathers And Sons Banquet On Friday

112 Participate In Annual Event In First Presbyterian Church Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 18.—Success in every detail was the final decision of the annual Fathers and Sons banquet in the First Presbyterian church last night.

It was a splendid affair at which covers were laid for 112. A well planned dinner was served by the Laura M. Smith Missionary Society. Music was furnished throughout the affair by an orchestra composed of Berline Smith, Ray Humphrey, Dr. W. H. Shields, and Edwin Lewis.

Much credit for the success of the affair is due Burgess Judd C. Turner who was the toastmaster for the occasion. With his wit and fine sense of humor things were kept rolling along to a happy ending. The dining room of the church was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The invocation was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. A. M. Stevenson. After this there was group singing under the leadership of Joseph Smith. Miss Marjorie Street-er was the accompanist.

A special feature of the occasion was the toastmaster paid tribute to E. B. Baker, a member of the church who passed away early in the week. As Mr. Turner was reading his eulogy Prof. Charles A. French played "Going Home" on the violin, accompanied by Mr. Lewis.

The toast to the fathers was given by Robert Shean, to which Dr. H. E. Helling responded.

Rev. C. F. Christiansen, pastor of the local Trinity Lutheran church, delivered the principal address of the evening. The talk which was enlightening and inspiring, was well received by the assemblage. He advocated strict adherence in four "Be's," be honest, be courageous, be strong, and be religious.

The program was some clever cartooning by Earle Yahn, Jr.

Joseph S. Bowater, general superintendent of the Sunday School, received the hearty thanks of all present, for his efforts as general chairman of the affair.

New Trial Refused In Makinen Case

Court Holds That Jury Was Justified In Finding Verdict In Arson Case

In an opinion handed down at court this morning Judge James A. Chambers refused a new trial to John Makinen of Bessemer, who was convicted on a charge of arson.

In reviewing the case Judge Chambers points out that the fire at defendant's home occurred at 3 o'clock in the morning, and yet he and his wife both came out of the house fully clothed.

After the fire had been extinguished a number of piles of kindling wood and some gasoline were found in the house. Makinen claimed that he had cut the kindling wood and distributed it for the purpose of drying it. He denied that he or his wife had set fire to their home.

In view of the facts the court holds that the jury was justified in finding a verdict against Makinen. The house was heavily insured.

Must File Amended Statement Of Claim

Judge James A. Chambers Hands Down Opinion In Davidson Damage Case

In the case of Caroline Davidson, in her own right and in behalf of her daughter Georgiana Davidson against Standard Brands, Inc. Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion at court this morning in which a rule to show cause why a more specific statement of claim should not be filed, is made absolute. Plaintiff is directed to file an amended statement.

This is a case growing out of an automobile accident on the New Castle-New Wilmington road. Two drivers of Standard Brand trucks had stopped near the intersection of the Pulaski road with the New Castle-New Wilmington road, and were engaged in transferring merchandise from one to another, when the Davidson car, turning a corner came suddenly upon them and a collision occurred in which Georgiana was injured.

Suit was brought to recover damages on the grounds of negligence on the part of the drivers of the Standard Brands truck in stopping so near a corner.

Urge Return To Gold Standard

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Roosevelt was urged today by directors of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to retore the gold standard and abandon experiments with the monetary policy.

Present fiscal policies, the directors said in a resolution adopted at a meeting of the board, "have developed widespread confusion and disquiet."

Instability of employment, demoralization of exchanges and general insecurity for all classes of people is the inevitable accompaniment of monetary experimentation, the resolution said.

Dear Brother Lion:
Our speaker for Tuesday will be C. C. Headland, auditor, Lawrence Savings & Trust Company.

Mr. Headland will speak to us concerning bank legislation which has been enacted since March 4, 1933.

Remember the regional meeting at Beaver Falls on November 28 in the evening. We will go in time for dinner. Let us make it a 100 percent attendance.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

Activities Of State Grange Are Reported

State Grange Master, J. Audley Boak, Tells National Grange Of Work

SESSIONS ARE HELD IN IDAHO

State Grange Master J. Audley Boak of Lawrence county gave a report of the activities of the Pennsylvania state grange, to the officers and members of the national grange, which is in session in Boise, Idaho, at the meeting Friday.

Master Boak's report, as submitted to the national organization, follows:

"Worthy Master, Officers and Members of the National Grange, Greetings:

"After a lapse of six years it is a pleasure to present to you our second report from the Keystone state. We treasure the fond recollections formed at Cleveland in 1927, and anticipate meeting old friends and making new ones at this session and we know that our expectations will come true.

"As the tasks from day to day are attacked, we are impressed with the gratitude we owe our predecessors for the foundations they have built for us. As we look at their pictures on the walls of our office, we honor them.

War Disrupts Plans.

"Grange work in Pennsylvania for some time past, due to loss of members and other conditions, has not been satisfactory. This loss must be stopped. There are several causes for it, but we rather think the World war and its effects on mankind were not among the least. We taught hatred for years, and now to teach fraternity is a difficult task. True to nature, a nation can engender more hate in one year than it can love in a generation. Had the billions of money and the millions of lives that were sacrificed to the gods of war been devoted to the god of love, the spirit of peace would rule supreme in our land. Hence the purpose of the grange is more apparent now than ever before.

"In the early twenties the farmer did not realize the need of the grange or of fraternalism, as he was making more money than he had ever made before. He thought that money was all there was to life and consequently he thought he was sufficient unto himself. Now during the early thirties he is making so little money that he thinks he cannot afford to belong to the grange. Although he feels the need of organization he is looking for something cheaper, but he is so often disappointed. I am convinced that no farmer can afford not to belong to the grange.

"Other farm organizations have tried to get a foot-hold in our state. We are decidedly opposed to this step, not from a spirit of antagonism but we feel that there is no need for two organizations of the same kind in the state.

Depression Leaves Mark.

"While the depression is no respecter of persons, we think that in no state has the grange been harder hit than in Pennsylvania. Many of our members work in the public works and the unemployment situation has made many of our people subjects of charity. Some years ago the migration of our people to the cities caused a hardship on the granges. Now the migration is the other way, but their savings are gone.

"We have painted rather a gloomy picture, but we think we can see a silver lining. The spirit of the grange was never better and the need of the organization never more keenly felt. People are seeking the need of the grange and are willing to help extend its influence. The churches of our state, realizing the influence of the grange on moral questions, have thrown open their doors to us. It is a common thing for the churches to have grange night and invite a grange speaker to address their audience, and in-depression members of the community to attend in a body. We are pleased to note the friendly feeling that exists between the grange and all organizations that have as their object a higher and better manhood and womanhood.

State Meeting.

"Our state grange met in Williamsport December 13-15, 1932. While the weather was cold there was no coldness among the members, as the spirit of fraternity was never better and good will and harmony marked every session. When we took up our work we were conscious of the magnitude of the task, but relying upon an All-Wise hand to guide us and upon the cooperation of 68,000 of the most loyal patrons in the world, our work has been a pleasure.

"Early in the year we were pleased to have our national master, Brother Taber, visit us. Mr. Taber addressed the farm show at Harrisburg, where he spoke to an audience of seven thousand people.

"In March, our national secretary, Brother Eaton, and in April our national lecturer, Brother Farmer, assisted us with a series of booster meetings. These meetings were well attended and were very interesting. During Easter week we held our annual lecturers' school at State College. We were fortunate in having both Brother Farmer and Sister Freestone with us, and their smiles, enthusiasm and good counsel will long be remembered. A number of our patrons attended the lecturers' conference in Ithaca, N. Y., in August.

"During the year we organized two new granges and five new juvenile granges, and we reorganized eight subordinate granges. While we appreciate these activities, we hope for greater progress next year.

Wet Turn.

"We are firmly convinced that America has turned its wheels of progress back a generation by repealing the 18th amendment. We have lost a battle but not the war. We will never surrender to King Alcohol. We will buckle up our armor a little tighter and prepare for another battle. For America to prosper, we must be sober.

"The Keystone Grange Exchange, the Farmers & Traders Life Insurance company, the National Grange Mutual Liability company and the numerous grange fire insurance companies are rendering appreciated service to many of our patrons. Among the 630 granges of our state, there are many worthwhile projects and the value of them can never be estimated. As we are still in the worst economic and moral depression that America has ever known, we would be disheartened if it were not for our faith in God and our hope in the future.

"And now, patrons, cherishing in our hearts every kind feeling to our brethren and other orders and associations which seek to promote human welfare, let us strive with them working hand in hand for the good of our fellow beings. Let us remember that amid all that is bright and beautiful in nature there is nothing that blooms with such unfading colors, there is no perfume on earth fraught with such fragrance as the flower of good works, and the sweet smelling savor of that play which feels for the wants and relieves the distresses of our sisters and our brothers."

Fraternally,
J. A. BOAK.

Guards Doubled On Roger Touhy And Henchmen

Report Willie Sharkey Is Victim Of "Stir-Craziness," Being Closely Watched

(International News Service)

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—A report was current today that the doubling of guards around Roger Touhy, Chicago gang leader, and his three henchmen, on trial here for kidnapping, was the result of signs of "stir-craziness" shown by Willie Sharkey, one of the defendants.

The four men, accused of the $100,000 ransom kidnapping of William Hamm, Jr., last June, have been in the county jail here for four months, in separate cells. It was said that the confinement was affecting Sharkey's mind. One of the bailiffs who escorts the men from their cells to the courtroom said today:

"He's sort of grabbing in the air for things, and he mumbles all the time. The others seem to be standing up all right."

Counsel for both the defense and the government were girding themselves today for the home stretch of the trial. Both sides indicated that by the time court reopened on Monday they would throw some surprises into the bitterly fought case.

Toledo Scott Brings Thirty To New Castle

Coach Bob Rettig And Squad Of 30 Toledo High Gridders Spend Night Here

SCHOOLBOY TEAMS BATTLING TODAY

Toledo Scott high football team spent the night in New Castle. The Toledo team arrived in New Castle Friday night via the P. & L. E. railroad traveling in their special coach at about 8:15 o'clock. The entire party headed by Coach Bob Rettig went to a local hotel where they spent the night.

There was a small crowd at the terminal to meet the Toledo team. A crowd of curious fans.

The Toledo team was somewhat battered for the game here today. Coach Rettig was forced to keep Finish Brown, the star colored half-back on the bench due to injuries. Several other of the Toledo stars are ailing.

"It's too bad that Finish Brown couldn't play in this New Castle game, he sure is the best half-back I have ever coached and one of the best schoolboy players in the city of Toledo," was the tribute paid the injured star by Coach Rettig.

Despite injuries, the Toledo team figured to give New Castle a stiff battle this afternoon at Taggart Stadium. Coach Phil A. Bridenbaugh has the New Castle team out on the field Friday afternoon for a short signal drill. The field was in fairly good shape for the game despite a lot of snow and ice. The snow was melting fast.

"I expect New Castle's Red Hurricanes to play the best game of the season against the Toledo team. I have primed for this game for weeks," said Bridenbaugh.

Cast Being Removed. Coach Rettig announced today that the cast will be removed from Finish Brown's leg today at the New Castle hospital and that the youngster would not play in the New Castle game, but will likely be in shape to play a part of the game against Waite high on Thanksgiving. Brown is walking on crutches. "I expect to give New Castle a real battle today," Coach Rettig stated early this morning. "Of course, I would like to have Brown in the game, but his place will be taken by Walzo, another colored boy and just as fast as Brown."

"I am certainly glad that the weather is moderating. Toledo Scott played in seven inches of snow last week at Birmingham, Mich., and there was a regular blizzard all during the game," was Coach Rettig's comment.

"New Castle is a fine town and the treatment accorded the Toledo team has been of the finest type. It is a pleasure to play in a town like New Castle. You have a fine football field here," said the Toledo coach.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Pirates have obtained Red Lucas, pitcher, from Cincinnati in exchange for Tony Pitt and Adam Comorosky, according to an announcement today by Manager George Gibson.

Steve Hamas beat Lee Ramage in 10 rounds at New York last night. Other Gotham fight results follow: Jack Pettifer knocked out Jack McCoy in a round, Bob Olin beat Charley Massera, Frankie O'Brien won from Mack Way and Ben Jeby outboxed Jole LeGrey.

Frank (Pancho) Snyder has been retained as coach of the New York Giants, according to Manager Bill Terry.

Tulsa U Hurricane kept its record clear last night by walloping George Washington 13 to 6 in their fourth meeting. The game was played at Washington.

District Grid Teams Take Up Action Today

Slippery Rock At Clairon, Case Of Ohio Is Playing At Westminster

The tri-state district schedule of "B" teams is topped by the conference title game between Geneva College and Grove City at Beaver Falls. The Covenanters making a successful bid for recapture of the championship they relinquished to Waynesburg last season, are pacing the conference by a very slim margin. Coach Bill Amos' Grovers are only a step behind Geneva, and either team could clinch the crown with a victory today.

The balance of the schedule shows: Thiel at Waynesburg; La Salle at St. Vincent; Case at Westminster; Shippensburg at Indiana Teachers; and Slippery Rock at Clairon.

Karns City High Tops Washington

Junior High Team Loses 28 To 0 In Final Game At Karns City Field

Cornhuskers Ready To Play Powerful Pitt Team At Stadium In Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—Nebraska, champion of the big six conference, meets a fighting Pittsburgh team today in a game that should decide their ranking in the National standings. Despite Nebraska's unbeaten record, the Panthers have been installed a slight favorite to win.

The Cornhuskers are lighter than usual this year but there is nothing frail about their four tackles, who average 230 pounds. All eyes will be on Sauer, Nebraska's fullback, whom middle Western critics call one of the greatest backs in the country. Sauer can do and do everything one man can do with a football and if he is half as good as his advance notices, the Panthers may have their hands full stopping him.

However, the Panthers have not one, but four great backs, and it is on these plus their hard charging line, that Pittsburgh hopes rest. Weinstein is one of the finest backs in the east and Panther followers are counting on him to hold Sauer even.

Fully 50,000 are expected to see the battle of the Titans in Pitt stadium.

Steve Hamas Beats Ramage

Former Penn State Star Football Player Wins Decision In New York Fight

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A new law was established in boxing at Madison Square Garden last night not only in attendance and gate receipts but in the quality of entertainment for 2,614 hopefulistic fans who contributed net receipts of only $4,896.24 and then seemed to think they had overpaid.

The main event was a ten-round affair between Steve Hamas, passable heavyweight and Lee Ramage, of California the fourth of a series that began in the far west last year.

Slow Battle
Hamas was proclaimed the winner in a set to that had few exciting moments. Ramage depended on a light left jab which he worked overtime and a right that carried little authority. Weighing 184 3-4 pounds against 193 for Hamas, the Californian was on the defensive most of the time. He was badly shaken a few times by rights to the head but Hamas was never able to follow through effectively.

Hamas started out trying to box Ramage and draw him into leads but in the third round he abandoned these tactics and pushed the Californian about the ring. He continued to crowd and Ramage continued to give an exhibition of defensive skill.

Early in the eighth round Steve caught Lee on the jaw with a short jolting right and for a few seconds it seemed the fight might end with Ramage on the floor. But Lee maneuvered himself out of that bad spot nicely.

The judges disagreed and referee Andy Griffin made the award to Hamas on aggressiveness and harder punching.

Ross Defeats Sammy Fuller

Junior Welterweight Champion Handed Decision Over Fuller In Chicago Ring

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—If Barney Ross is interested today, the junior welterweight championship is still his, officially if not by popular acclaim.

They scored a victory for the lightweight titleholder last night at the Chicago stadium, but they didn't convince some 10,000 of the fans who saw ten round scuffle that Sammy Fuller, a rugged, grim-visaged young man from Boston, was not the winner.

As in the case of his first engagement with Tony Canzonieri, the decision that retained one of his two titles for the artful youth of the Ghetto last night was met with unrestrained boos.

Class AA Teams Playing Today

Young Girl Found On Devil's Island

Young French Girl Exiled On Famous Prison Island By Lack Of Funds

Parents, Former Convicts, Both Dead; Has Job As Servant; New Hope Prevails

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The plight of an innocent 22-year-old, blue-eyed French girl, a lonely penniless exile on Devil's Island, was revealed today.

Daughter of the last woman convict sentenced to life imprisonment in the notorious French penal colony in the South Atlantic, she is known only as Vivienne. Both her parents are dead, and although innocent of any crime, she is forced by lack of funds to spend her days on the dread island in the tropics.

Vivienne's strange existence was brought to light by Irene Peyron, Salvation Army worker who has come to be known as the "Angel of Devil's Island." Just back in Paris after a new investigation of conditions in the penal colony, she described Vivienne as the most tragic of all the inmates.

Parents Both Dead. The girl, she revealed, was the offspring of a released convict and the last woman to be sentenced to the island, the practice of sending women prisoners to Devil's Island being abandoned 20 years ago.

"When Vivienne came of age," Miss Peyron said, "she discovered that although she herself had done no wrong, she was virtually sentenced to life imprisonment in the penal colony as well."

"She was given a little schooling until she was 13. But there was no one to feed, clothe or house her when her parents died, much less care whether she ever accumulated the comparative fortune needed to pay her passage to France.

"At length she obtained a job as a servant. This has given her new life and new hope."

Man Made Island.

According to Miss Peyron, man made Devil's Island the scene of torture and suffering it is today. "It was meant to be a paradise, from the double viewpoint of beauty and climate," she said. "It reminded me of Monte Carlo. The islands and the mainland could have been a world famous and prosperous tourist resort. But man has made of it a Devil's island."

"Sentence there is torture—mental barbarity. There they have all the penalties of prison life with what is much worse in addition—the prospect that it will never end. There is no hope. Only water and the thick foliage and the marshland. And the vampire bats that come at night and drink the blood of sleeping men."

Councilmen-Elect Will Likely Attend Budget Sessions

B. F. Butler and Joe Alexander, councilmen-elect, will probably attend the appropriations meeting of council when the body convenes next month to compile 1934 appropriations.

In the past councilmen-elect have been invited to the appropriations meetings and it is reasonable to anticipate that the incoming members will be present this year.

Gandhi Denies Visit To U. S. Being Planned

(International News Service) BOMBAY, Nov. 18.—Mahatma Gandhi today specifically denied reports from New York that he intended to visit America in the near future and declared he had not even received an invitation.

Camp Thomas Boys Begin Winter Work

Busy Cutting Fire Trails, Thinning Woods, Honor Soldier Dead

By FRANK BOWES
(Special To The News)

CAMP LOWELL THOMAS, C. C. C., TROUT RUN, Pa., Nov. 18.—New Castle and other foresters in Camp Thomas paid tribute to the World War dead in Armistice Day when they grouped before the camp flag pole, where Old Glory flew at half mast, and for two minutes stood at attention as the flag went up to full mast.

All morning, from dawn until 11 o'clock, the flag fluttered at the traditional memorial position.

Summer projects at this camp have been abandoned and work on winter projects commenced.

Chief among the forest jobs this summer was the building of a two-mile roadway, the Long Run road, back into a section where valuable timber grows. It was built primarily to permit foresters to reach it should fire break out suddenly.

"Brushing out" fire trails and line trails through the timber was the rest of the summer's work along the plateau of the Jacoby mountains. Fifteen miles of territory was covered.

The winter projects consist of cutting new fire trails and thinning out the woods.

Bennie Jackson, a Camp Thomas forester, is the first man in this district to shoot a bear. The bruin weighed 250 pounds and was a fine specimen of the black bears that roam these mountain hills.

Albert Nocera, New Castle man in camp, has arrived back from Walter Reed hospital in Washington, where he underwent an operation for an eye growth.

CAMP 8-125, C. C. C., ELMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 18.—The folks of this community, in which our camp is located, are witnessing a mushroom change of affairs. Formerly a quiet and settled town, it was suddenly populated with two hundred eager and adventuresome young men. Now to further enliven things a concentrated move to erect five barracks, in a limited period, is in progress. After massing together one hundred and twenty local citizens to accomplish this task it now approaches a reality. With the approach of daylight workers in machines and trucks arrive on the scene of construction.

Officers in charge here recently received authorization to erect a recreation hall upon the completion of the barracks. It will be one hundred feet long and twenty feet wide. Furniture to equip it with has been promised by townfolk. Certain funds to purchase magazines and newspapers are to be paid for by money made on dances and minstrel shows.

Members of this company will receive their pay at noon of Wednesday, November the twenty-ninth. Thanksgiving vacation will begin then and continue until the following Monday morning.

For the Christmas vacation two different convenient methods have been arranged. Each recruit is given the choice of being absent from duty during the period of December twenty-second until December twenty-sixth or the period of December twenty-ninth to January second.

The menu for both the Thanksgiving and Christmas Day meal will include turkey as well as some other special dishes. This added feature will present a serious problem as you can readily see.

Harold Derrow who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has been discharged and allowed to return to camp where he will rest until fully recuperated.

Westminster Has Special Rally

Pep Meeting Takes Place On Friday At College Chapel

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 18.—A special pep rally was held during chapel period at Westminster College yesterday morning. The program was under the direction of the student council, with Elmer Meider, Pittsburgh, presiding.

Following the devotional service, directed by Dr. John Orr, Dean C. E. Rankin read the college announcements. Mr. Meider then introduced Dr. Hugh H. Hart, an alumnus of the college and now varsity team physician. Dr. Hart spoke on the advantage to an athletic team of a good cheering section. "The cheering section is very important," Dr. Hart said, "and it is not a social event."

Professor R. X. Graham then complimented the members of the varsity cross country team on the fine showing made during the season and introduced seven members of the team and the student manager.

The Omicron MU Gamma trio sang "Sing a Little Low-Down Tune" and, for an encore, sang a parody on "The Last Roundup." The chapel assembly was closed with the singing of the Titan Marching Song and the Westminster Hymn.
